Renowned Chefs working together to help others.

Top of their game.

With unsociable and long hours, stressing relationships and tough labour conditions, the wellbeing of individuals can quickly deteriorate. The Burnt Chef Project was launched in 2019 and has grown to provide instant 24-hour support. TBCP offers free resources and training to both individuals needing help and those ready to give it. The project has become the go-to place for support within the industry, which is clearly seen with the calibre of Chef's willing to donate their time and ingredients for this event.

The ticket price reflects the quality of food, service, and the event itself at £150pp. (100% of the ticket sales will be donated to The Burnt Chef Project.) The event is exclusive, with only 50 tickets available. We will also hold an auction with a range of events/products/getaways up for bidding. We are also reaching out to kindly ask for auction prizes. More below.
